Fire drill and evacuation plan

When the alarm sounds: everyone

1. Stop what you are doing. Treat every alarm as a real fire.
2. Leave immediately. Do not pack, do not go back for anything, do not wait for your roommate.
3. Put shoes on only if they are right there. Close your room door behind you; do not lock it.
4. Go to the nearest fire exit. Every floor has a fire door at each end of the hallway. Use the one closest to you. From the main floor the lobby doors are also an exit.
5. Walk. Do not run, push or talk. Keep your phone away so you can hear instructions.
6. Smoke: stay low and cover your mouth. Before opening a closed door, feel it with the back of your hand. If it is hot, use the other exit.
7. Outside, move away from the building and go straight to the muster point: the parking lot across Kingsway College Dr, at the garbage can (see page 4).
8. Find your grade's RA and line up with your grade. Answer the roll call.
9. Stay at the muster point. Nobody goes back into the building until the Dean gives the all-clear.
10. If you think someone is still inside, tell your RA or the Dean. Never go back in to look.

Who does what

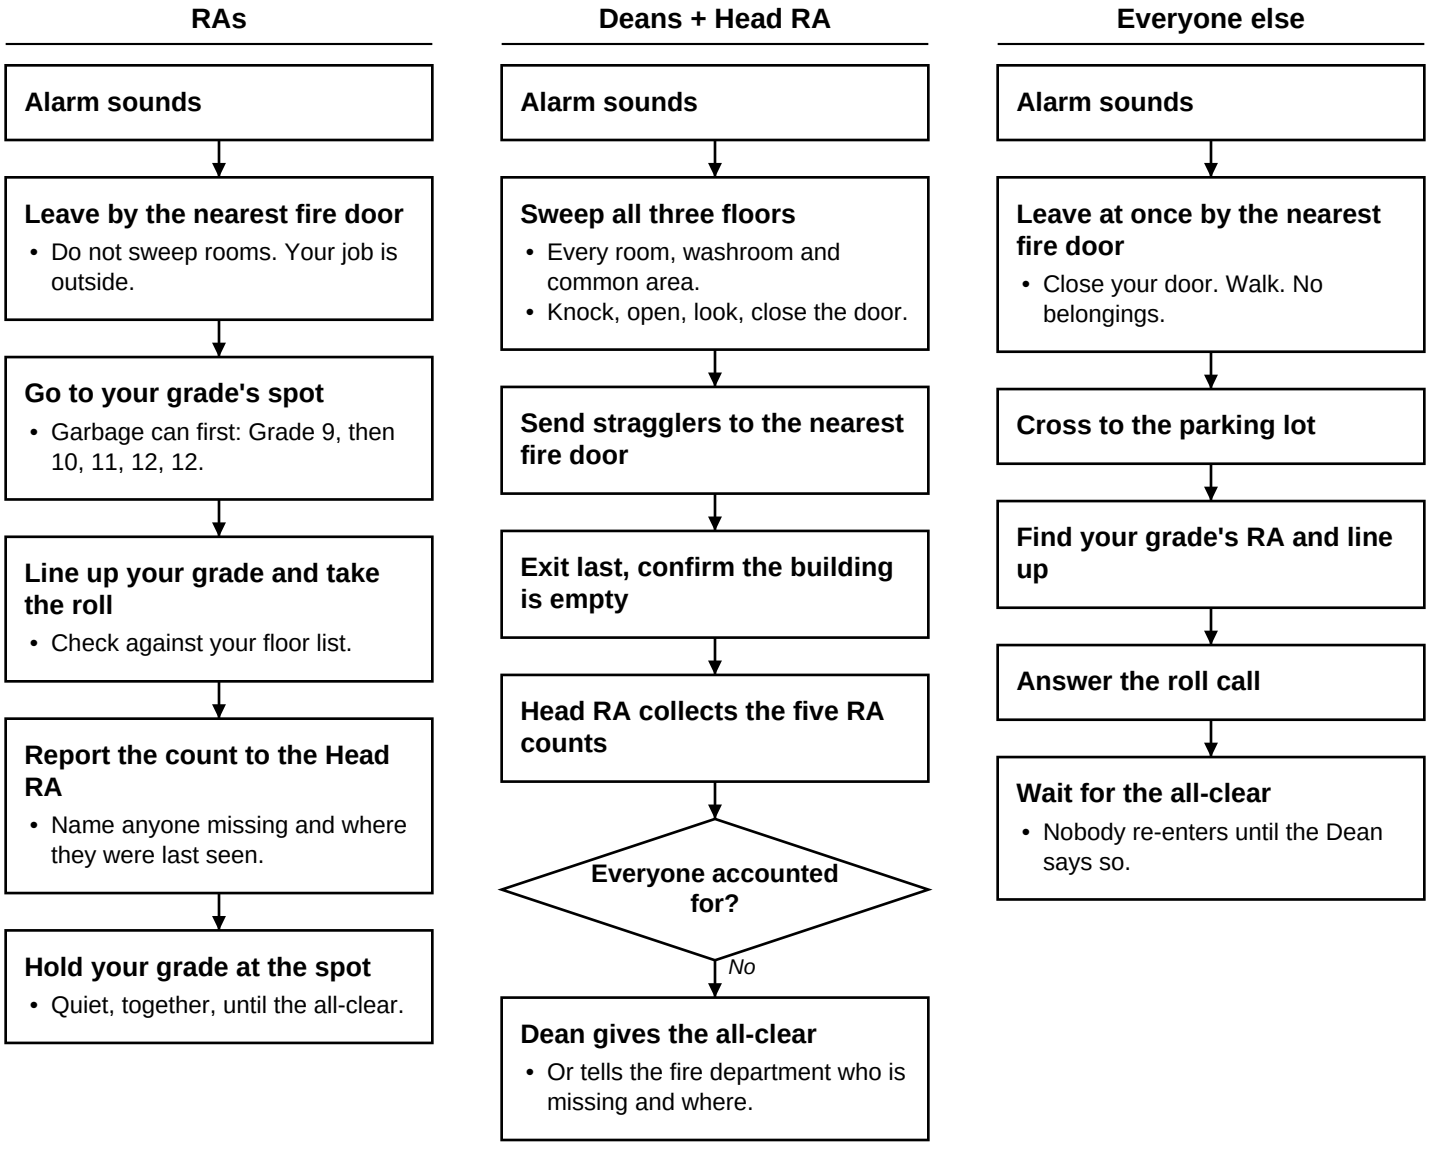

RAs	Go straight outside to your grade's designated spot. Line up your grade, take the roll against your floor list, and report the count (and any missing name) to the Head RA. Keep your grade together and quiet until the all-clear.
Head RA	Sweep the building with the Deans: every room, washroom and common area on all three floors. Exit last. At the muster point, collect the counts from the five RAs and report "all clear" or the missing names to the Dean.
Deans	Lead the drill. Sweep the floors with the Head RA, meet the fire department if it is a real alarm, decide when the all-clear is given, and account for every person using the RAs' counts.
Monitors	If you are at the desk: bring the visitor sign-in sheet with you, leave by the lobby, and report to the Dean at the muster point who was signed in. Visitors line up with the Monitor.
Janitors and everyone else	Stop work at once, leave by the nearest fire door, line up with your grade.

Before any drill: know your floor

- Know where both fire doors on your floor are, and which one is closer to your room.
- Know your grade's spot at the muster point (page 5) and who your grade's RA is.
- Keep the hallway, stairs and the space inside every fire door clear at all times.
- Never prop a fire door open, pull an alarm as a joke, or touch a fire extinguisher except for a real fire.
- If you discover a fire: pull the nearest alarm, get out, and tell the Dean or the Monitor at the desk. The Dean calls 911.

The drill, step by step

Two things happen at the same time: the RAs go straight out to their spots so the grades have somewhere to line up, while the Deans and the Head RA make sure the building is empty.

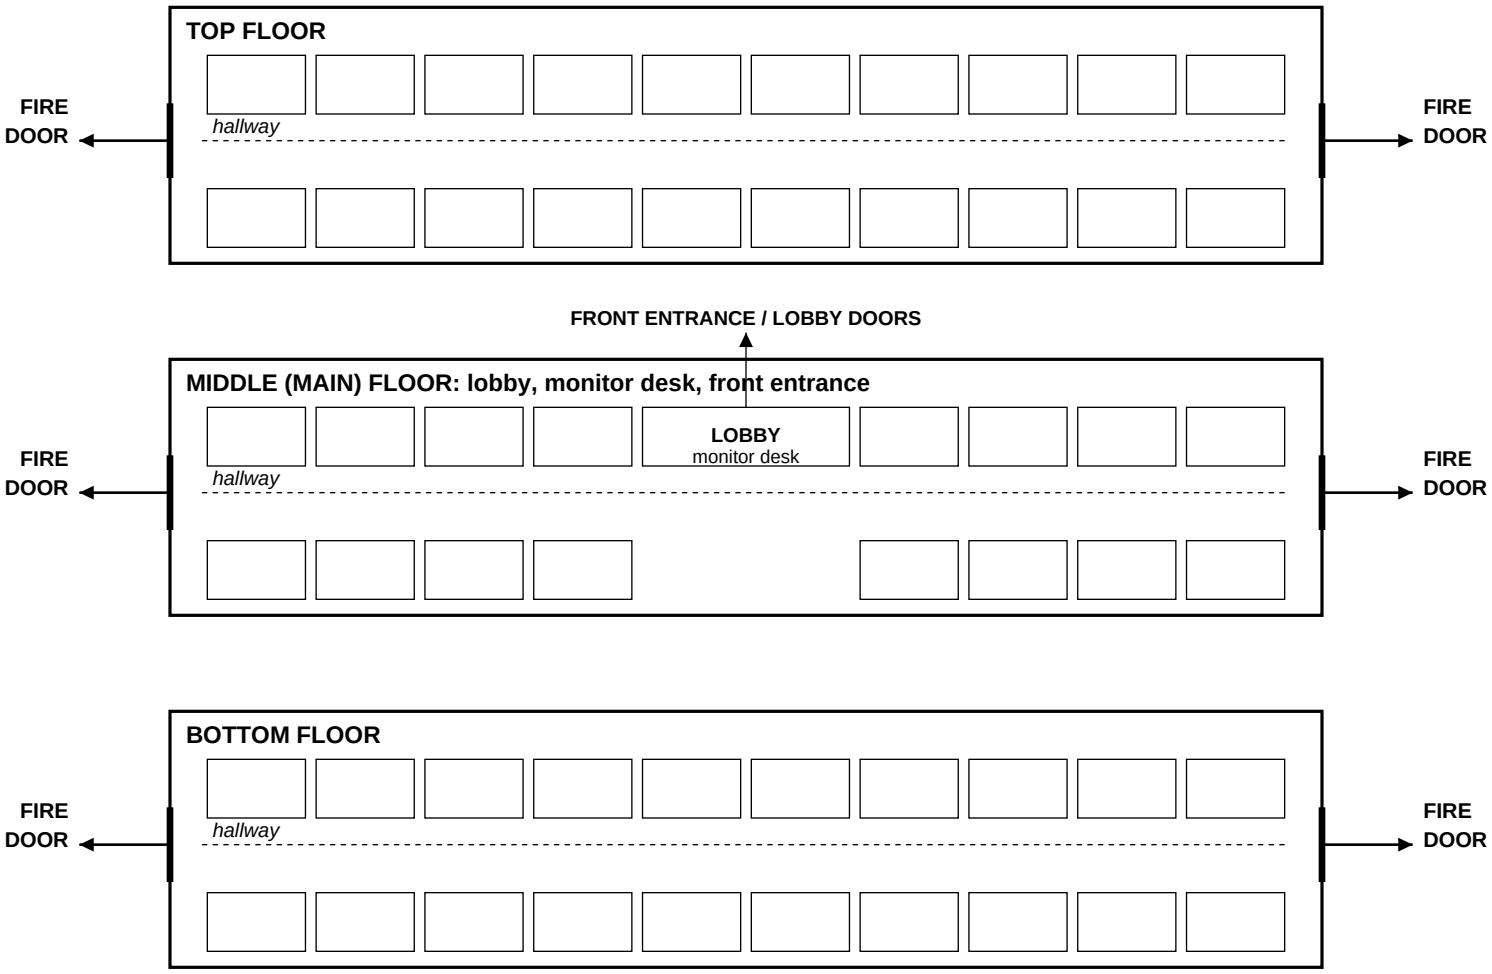

After the all-clear

- The Dean releases the grades one at a time. Each RA walks their grade back to the building.
- The Head RA notes the time the building was empty, any door found propped open, and any floor that was slow, and reports it to the Dean.
- If anyone was unaccounted for, the Dean tells the fire department. Nobody on staff goes back inside to search.

Fire exits: three floors, two fire doors each

Ryan Hall has three floors along one long hallway. Each hallway has a fire door at both ends. Go to whichever end is closer. The lobby doors on the main floor are a third way out for that floor only. Rooms in the drawing are schematic, not to scale.

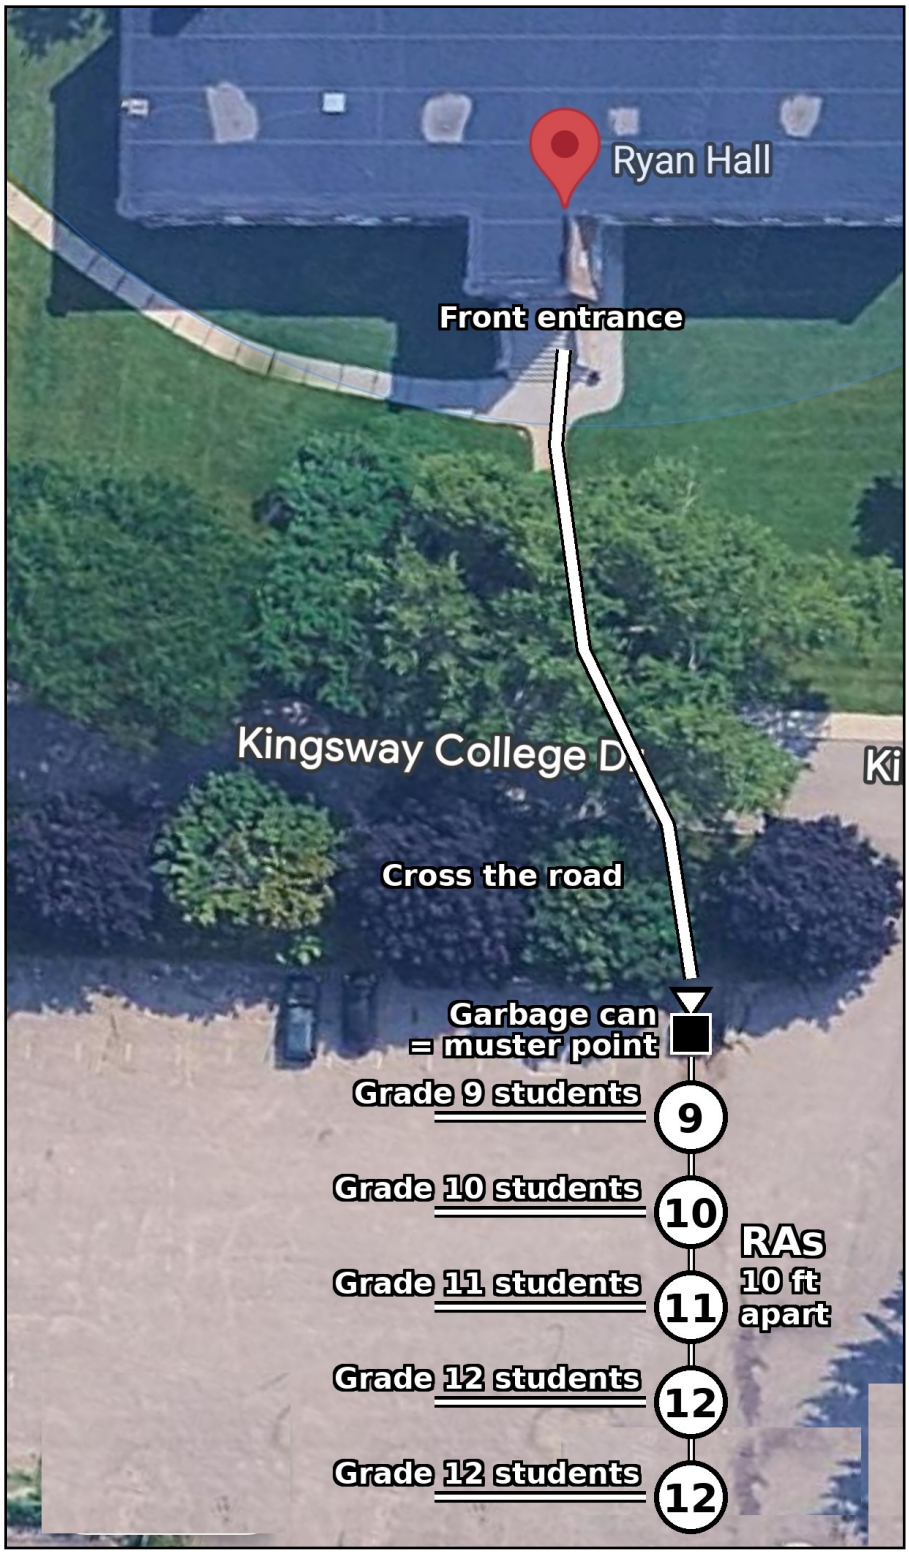

Exit rules

- Nearest exit wins. Do not walk past a fire door to use the lobby.
- Fire doors stay closed and never propped open. They hold back smoke.
- Keep hallways and the area inside every fire door clear: no shoes, bags, laundry or furniture.
- Once you are out, keep moving: the next person out needs the door.
- Walking route from any fire door: along the outside of the building to the front, then across Kingsway College Dr to the parking lot.

Muster point: the lot across the road

Aerial view of Ryan Hall and the parking lot across Kingsway College Dr. The garbage can at the end of the parked-car row is the anchor. The five RAs stand in a line starting at the can and running away from the trees into the open lot, about 10 feet apart, in grade order. Each grade lines up in a single line beside its RA, toward the wide open part of the lot. Nobody stands in the parking stalls or on the road.

Legend

- Walking route from the front entrance, across the road, to the muster point
- Garbage can: the muster point anchor. Grade 9 lines up here.
- (9) RA position. The number is the grade the RA is responsible for.
- Where that grade's students line up: a single line beside their RA, running into the open lot

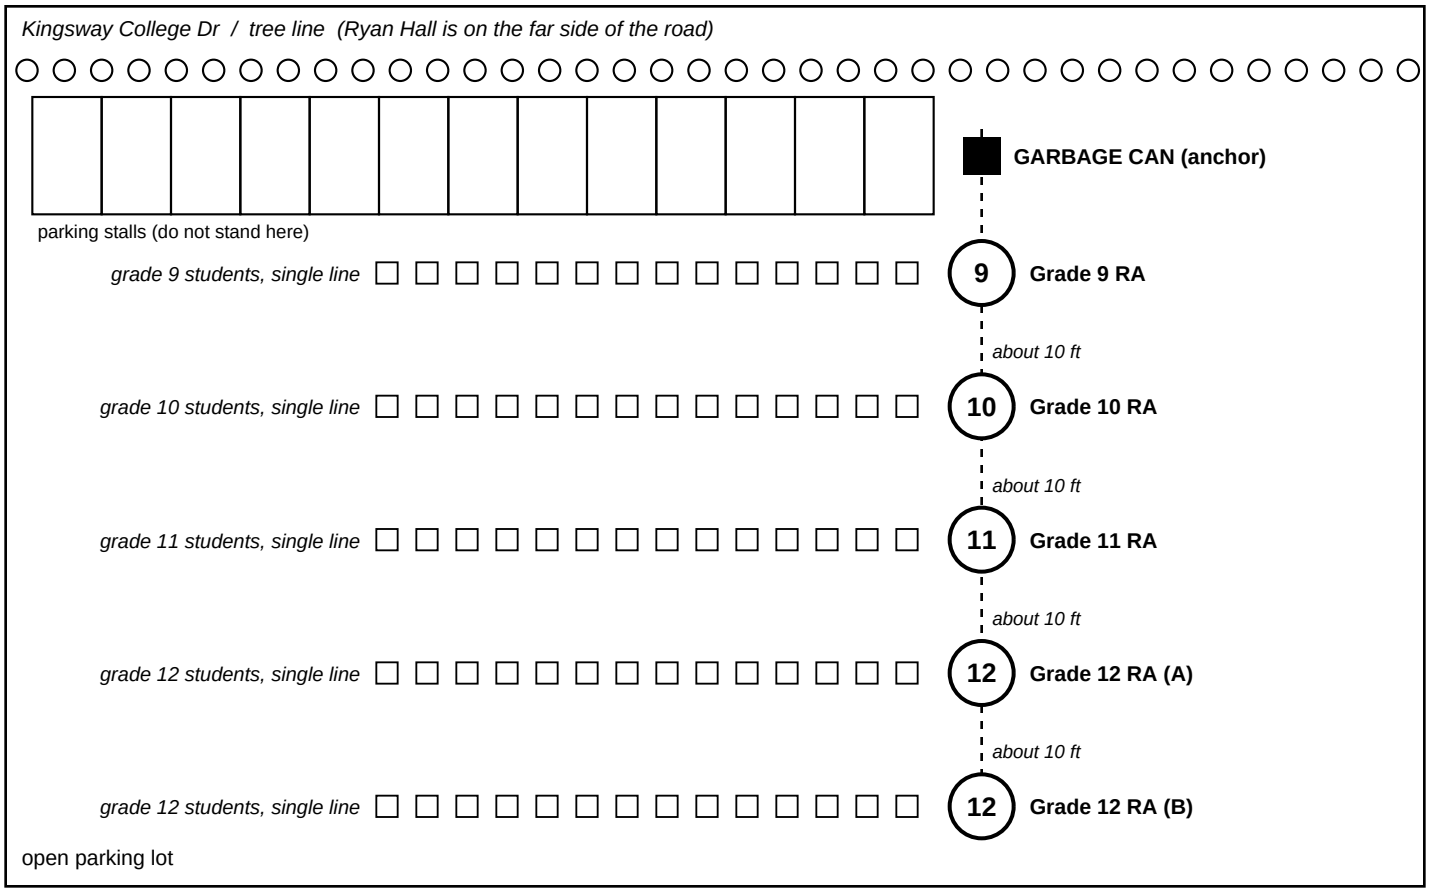

Order from the can

1. Grade 9 RA
2. Grade 10 RA
3. Grade 11 RA
4. Grade 12 RA (A)
5. Grade 12 RA (B)

The photo was taken on a different day; cars will not be where they are shown. The garbage can and the tree line are the landmarks. Map imagery: Google.

Grade lineup at the muster point

Not to scale. The parked-car row and the trees are at the top; the open lot is below and to the left. The RAs form a straight line out from the garbage can, spaced out so the grade lines do not mix. Students stand in a single line beside their RA, facing the RA, so the roll can be taken quickly.
